

HURRICANE PREPAREDNESS

DURING A PANDEMIC

VIRTUAL & ONLINE CONFERENCE

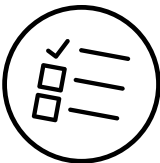

JULY 30, 2020

This upcoming conference will provide timely information and updates for hurricane preparedness in unprecedented circumstances. The conference provides a unique mix of expertise from across local, state and federal agencies combined with leading university researchers.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND:

Public officials, planners, emergency managers, public health, transportation and private industry representatives who live and work in vulnerable communities across the United States.

WHAT WILL BE COVERED:

PREPARATION & PLANNING

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

RESPONSE & RECOVERY

Virtual & online conference presented by The Georgia Institute of Technology and the Chatham Emergency Management Agency (CEMA).